DESCRIPTION

This workshop is designed for interpreters who have already taken an introductory workshop or course in Deafblind interpreting. We will focus on cultivating a deeper understanding of the ethical aspects of Deafblind interpreting using vignettes, examination of lived experiences, contextualization, and analysis of our personal biases. We will also focus on the role of intersectionality in Deafblind interpreting.

OBJECTIVES

After completing this workshop, it is expected that participants will be able to do the following:

- Name and explain the impact of personal biases on the Interpreter's work with people who are Deafblind.
- Analyze and prepare for interpreting jobs with consumers who are Deafblind utilizing specific ethical considerations.
- Synthesize aspects of identity in order to provide adequate access to environmental information when working with consumers who are Deafblind.
- Develop the ability to analyze power dynamics within an interpreting environment and successfully create a collaborative working relationship with consumers who are Deafblind.
